

A worker in a black uniform is operating a high-speed automated color printing machine. The machine is producing a long, continuous roll of printed material with vibrant colors like blue, green, and red. The worker is seated on a swivel stool, focused on the machine's controls. The background shows a large industrial facility with overhead lighting and structural elements. The text "冠捷彩色流水生產線" is overlaid at the bottom of the image.